

1

1 R. Dale Walker, M.D., leads one of the breakout sessions in which participants brainstormed specific strategies for bridging the faith and mental health communities.

2 Former Congressman Patrick Kennedy is joined by Farha Abbasi, M.D., of Michigan State University and Meena Ramani, M.D., of Nassau University Medical Center.

3 Nancy Kehoe, R.S.C.J., Ph.D., of Harvard Medical School discusses the importance of addressing patients' religion and spirituality within the clinical context.

4 Altha Stewart, M.D., shares her breakout group's strategies in the final plenary session of the day.

Photos: Sylvia Johnson

3

2

4